EVENT WILL BE MARKED BY PROGRAM

Arrange for Speaker and Music; Opening Takes Place at 2

Santa Ana's Bowers Memorial Museum will throw wide its doors next Saturday. From far and near the public will be invited to come and view the exhibits which will recall the colorful and romantic past of this city and county and state, it was announced today by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator.

To celebrate the event an attractive program will entertain visitors. T. E. Stephenson, president of the Orange County Historical society, will preside. Spanish music, typical of this country's background, will be provided under the direction of Alfonso Yorba, of San Juan Capistrano.

Dr. Hodge to Speak
Dr. F. W. Hodge, director of the Southwest Museum at Los Angeles, and former curator for the Smithsonian Institution, will deliver a short address. Dr. Hodge, probably the best known museum authority in the country, has taken a special interest in the Santa Ana project ever since its construction about two years ago.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland will make a formal presentation of the museum to the public. Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will present the museum with an American flag. The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church and president of the Santa Ana Ministerial association.

Opens at 2 P. M.
The program will not be long, and will give visitors ample opportunity to see the displays which have been collected and arranged under Mrs. Coulter's direction. The museum will be opened at 2 p. m. and will remain open until 5 p. m. It will open again at 7 p. m. and (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Lawyer to Aid Hauptmann If He'll Tell Truth

NEW YORK, Feb. 12. (AP)—Samuel S. Leibowitz, New York criminal lawyer, said today he had agreed to enter the Hauptmann case after a conference with Mrs. Richard Bruno Hauptmann, "if Hauptmann would tell the truth."

The attorney said he was convinced that the entire story of the crime had not been told and termed "ridiculous" the assumption that only one man was involved.

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Henry Rystrom, Butte county rice grower, got the ducks off his ranch but it cost him $300 in federal court, two other men an additional $150 each, and one went to jail for 60 days.

They pleaded guilty to violating the migratory bird act. Richard Whittington and Carroll Hedlund were fined $150 each and Hedlund was sent to jail.

'Paths of Glory' Author

HUMPHREY COBB

His First Book A Best Seller

Humphrey Cobb, an advertising agency copy writer, sat at his desk a year ago. He didn't care for his work. Concentration on it was difficult—almost impossible. What to do—how to avoid a future that offered only tedious boredom? He had written two books, both of which were unpublished. He decided to try another.

He remembered the war. The war that had ruined his nerves; the war, from which it took him a year to recover. He would get his own back on the war! An incident in the French army came back to him, something about four soldiers who were court-martialed and shot, because their division had bungled the plans of a general.

Critics Laud Work
He wrote... A book with a red and blue cover has taken its place among the best sellers of America. Its author, Humphrey Cobb, is internationally famous now. Half a million Americans have read it and millions more are talking about it. It has been made into a successful Broadway play, and Hollywood is preparing it for the screen. It is being translated into a score of foreign tongues.

The book is "Paths of Glory" acclaimed everywhere as one of the greatest American novels about the war—scheduled to begin as a daily serial in The Journal.

Born in Italy
Humphrey Cobb was born 36 years ago at Sienna, Italy. His father, Arthur Cobb, and his mother, Mary, were both writers. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

BOARD NAMES SIDEBOTTOM RECORDER

Boiling of Political Pot Quiets Down; Aides Unnamed

Appointment of J. Fred Sidebottom, Anaheim, as county recorder to succeed Miss Justine Whitney today had settled a question which has kept the political pot in Orange county boiling for several weeks. The appointment was made late yesterday by the board of supervisors. Mr. Sidebottom will take office March 1.

The setting of that question, however, has raised several others which will be absorbing topics for some time to come. Today the big question was, "Who will Mr. Sidebottom appoint as his deputies?" Mr. Sidebottom himself said today he has not made any definite plans along this line.

Farmers' Plea Ignored
Another question of scarcely less interest was the attitude of the farm bureau and the grange. Delegations from these organizations yesterday urged the supervisors not to fill the position, but to consolidate the office with that of the treasurer or auditor. The supervisors listened to the delegation in the morning. In the afternoon they made the appointment in rapid fire order without commenting upon the farm bureau and grange requests.

The motion for the appointment was made by Supervisor LeRoy Lyon of Anaheim. Supervisor N. E. Wiese of Laguna Beach voted against Mr. Sidebottom, explaining later that he was not convinced that the latter's qualifications are superior to those of the other 15 candidates for the job. Chairman John Mitchell of Garden Grove did not vote.

Women Raise Issue
A third question raised by the appointment is the attitude of women of the county. There were a number of women candidates for the job. At yesterday's session Mrs. O. A. Jacobs of Santa Ana asked Mr. Mitchell to explain how Mr. Sidebottom's qualifications are superior to those of the other candidates. Mr. Mitchell replied that the board had considered all the candidates carefully, and that Mr. Sidebottom had the necessary education for the position and that the board had chosen him.

COOGAN, GIRL ARE ROBBED

Film Player and Fiancee Lose $5500 After Chase by Yeggs

CHICAGO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable, film players, reported to police today that at the end of a 50-mile-an-hour chase through the Chicago loop two gunmen curbed their car and robbed them of $500 and jewelry valued at $5000.

Miss Grable said she made an unsuccessful attempt to save the five-carat diamond engagement ring Coogan gave her Dec. 9. One of the robbers saw her effort to hide it on the floor of the car, she said, and threatened her.

One of the robbers, armed with a pistol, entered Coogan's car, the actor said, and told them, "Take it easy, now, Jackie. This is a stickup. Miss Grable, give me that ring."

Miss Grable threw the ring on the floor but the robber growled, "Give me that ring or I'll blow your brains out," she said. She then handed it to the gunman. Coogan also gave up a diamond ring and his wallet.

Coogan said he noticed the license number of the robber car.

2 BEACH MEN KILLED BY CRACK-UP

Albert Wilson, Louis Koppl Die in Crash With Oil Truck

Killed in county traffic accidents so far this year.....12
Killed in county traffic accidents same time last year.....6

Death struck twice on Orange county highways at 6:30 p. m. yesterday, and claimed the lives of Albert Wilson, 58, and his companion, Lorenz Koppl, 68, both of Huntington Beach. The pair were instantly killed when Mr. Wilson's car crashed into an oil truck on the Coast highway, 500 feet north of the Huntington Beach city limits.

James Frederick Daniels, 5804 Carmelita street, Maywood, was driving an oil truck and trailer south on the highway. Suddenly he saw a car coming toward him, apparently out of control, he told officers. The car was swerving from side to side, and Mr. Daniels pulled his truck to the side of the highway, hoping to avoid a collision, he said.

The oncoming car took a final swerve, and skidding sideways, crashed broadside into the front end of the truck. The impact of the collision broke the necks of both occupants of the car. Their mangled bodies were removed from the twisted mass of wreckage and taken to the open mortuary in Huntington Beach, where Coroner Earl Abbey has ordered an inquest.

Mr. Koppl, a pioneer resident of Huntington Beach, was for many years master mechanic at the Holly Sugar Company factory. He is survived by four sons, Leo and Ernest of Huntington Beach, Frank of Whittier, and Joe of Berkeley; and two daughters, Mrs. Carl Yost and Mrs. Hamilton Yost, both of Huntington Beach.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12. (AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho and Col. Frank Knox of Chicago today filed their entries in the Illinois advisory presidential preferential primary April 14.

It was the first formal step taken by Colonel Knox, Chicago publisher, to announce his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination.

Amelia Earhart, Here for Lecture, Says Women Can Have Career and Marriage

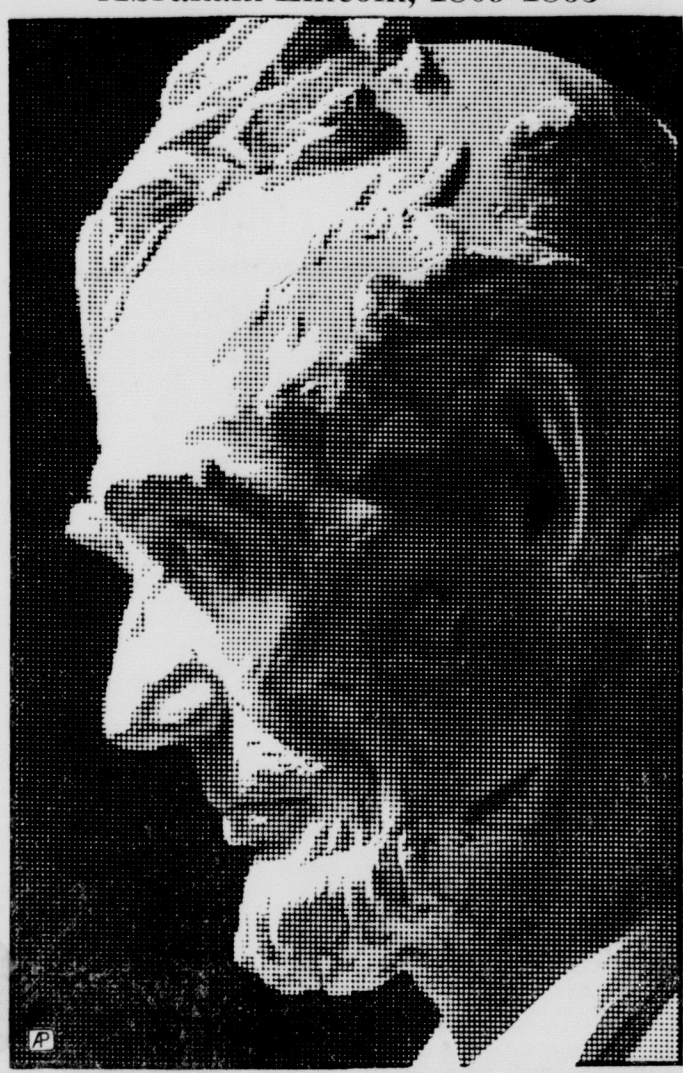

By ELLEN SNEBLEY

"I am looking forward to the day when women no longer marry men as a bread-and-butter proposition."

Amelia Earhart looked very serious as she said that to me. It was backstage in the Ebelle club house just after she'd finished talking so long and so hard that she'd already answered all but one of the questions I'd meant to ask her if and when I cornered her for an interview.

Miss Earhart (her parting words to me were: "Call me Miss Earhart, please. It's better for me and for my husband, too") stood talking to a junior college reporter when I reached her.

Abraham Lincoln, 1809-1865

Today marks the 127th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, sixteenth President of the United States. He was assassinated April 15, 1865.

(Editorial)

In these times of world unrest, it is well to hark back to the words of Abraham Lincoln, martyred President whose birth anniversary we observe today.

There are those among us now who would strip the power of government from the people as a whole and invest it in a single class; there are those who would suppress freedom of conscience, free speech, and peaceable free assemblage; and there are those who, from lust for power or warped thinking, would trample constitutional American liberties into dust.

It is far beyond our humble power to interpret the mind of Abraham Lincoln, that courageous and capable President who saved the Union and freed 4,000,000 humans from slavery.

But if he were alive today to defend once more the United States which he so loved, it is conceivable that he might repeat those words spoken on Nov. 19, 1863, which are equally appropriate on Feb. 12, 1936—

"It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

THREE DIE IN COLD BLASTS HOTEL FIRE

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 12. (AP)—At least three persons died today in a fire which destroyed a three-story hotel in this winter resort village. A score of others were injured and 10 more were missing when a check-up was made after the flames were under control.

The dead are tentatively identified by survivors and employees as Harry Ehrlich, 46; Mrs. Ruth Sherman, Miss Mildred Cohen, all of the Bronx, N. Y.

There were 37 guests, including five children, 13 employees and five members of the proprietors' families in the hotel when the fire broke out.

FARM HOME FIRE FATAL FOR FOUR

JACKSON, Minn., Feb. 12. (AP)—Four members of the Paul Poelart family were burned to death when a fire of mysterious origin destroyed their farm home near here last night. Poelart was held under guard in a hospital here.

Poelart's mother, 75, his wife, and two infant children, perished.

RUSH AID TO VESSEL IN MID-OCEAN

First Victim Dies in Two Days; California Students Menaced

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Feb. 12. (AP)—The United States navy destroyer Tattal raced into the Pacific today, bearing physicians and serum to the training ship California State which appealed for assistance against an outbreak of meningitis, a highly contagious and dangerous disease.

The training ship, bound for this port at the Pacific end of the Panama Canal, was about 1000 miles at sea.

Dies in 2 Days
In its call for aid, the vessel reported the first case of meningitis arose last Saturday and the victim died Monday—the same day on which a second case was reported.

The navy destroyer, in quick response to the appeal, put out to sea at 9:20 p. m. E. S. T., last night and was expected to contact the training ship sometime tomorrow.

Three physicians from the Gorgas hospital of Balboa were aboard the destroyer, carrying an ample supply of serum.

Four Volunteer
Col. Edgar King, superintendent of the hospital, said all serum here was sent to sea with the local supply to be replenished by airplane.

Colonel King said four Negro hospital orderlies volunteered with "exceptional spirit" to accompany the doctors on their mission. The doctors are United States Army Captain R. B. Skinner, Dr. W. R. Davis and Dr. Kenneth Courtney. They were accompanied by the four male orderlies and four men from the army hospital corps.

The California State carried 70 cadets and 23 crew members when it sailed from San Francisco Jan. 31 on its annual practice cruise.

The ship is the official training vessel of the state nautical school and is under the command of Capt. R. C. Dwyer.

67 FROM CALIFORNIA ABOARD TRAINING SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Sixty-seven California boys, cadets of the state nautical school, are aboard the vessel California State, where one boy died and another is ill with meningitis.

Many Southern California boys were among the cadets, but the Associated Press reported to The Journal that none were from Orange county.

Neutrality Bill Is Toned Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—The senate foreign relations committee today approved unanimously an amended neutrality bill extending the present arms embargo features until May 1, 1937, but exempting American republics from its application when attacked by non-American nations.

The compromise omitted two major provisions of the administration act. One would have permitted the President to impose peacetime quotas on "materials of war" such as oil, cotton, and steel, and one would have permitted the chief executive to require that trade proceed with belligerents at the shipper's risk.

Nazi Police Raid 'Reds,' Catholics

BERLIN, Feb. 12. (AP)—German's secret police today took control of the subordinate civil administration under a new law published in the official gazette.

District governors were ordered to take commands from secret police headquarters after a series of raids resulting from charges of collusion between Roman Catholics and Communists. The police roundup centered in the Rhineland.

BOGUS BILLS MADE IN 'PEN'

Paroled Convict Trio Held

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Secret Service Captain Thomas B. Foster said he would sign complaints today against three paroled convicts, held on suspicion of complicity in the manufacture of $10,000 in spurious $10 bills inside San Quentin prison walls. Only 50 of the bills have been recovered, Captain Foster said. The others he said may be in circulation or cached somewhere in the prison.

The suspects are Thomas Bell, 42, Dan Wilson, 36 and C. L. Parr, 39. Bell and Wilson, Captain Foster said, claimed they received the bogus money from Parr, Wilson's brother-in-law. The money was turned out in the prison's photographic department, Captain Foster said.

WALNUT GROWERS LOSE IN ATTEMPT TO BLOCK MARKET PACT

COURT DENIES APPEAL FOR INJUNCTION

Association Contends Shipping Regulations Are Unfair

An application filed by the Orange County Walnut Growers Protective association asking for an injunction against the California walnut control board was dismissed this morning by Federal District Judge Albert Lee Stephens in Los Angeles, an Associated Press dispatch said.

The action, which was filed on Nov. 5 on behalf of the association by Abe Richman and Albert Birkman, Los Angeles attorneys, asked that the control board be restrained from enforcing its provisions in the matter of shipments and surplus control.

Attitude of the association is that the marketing provisions of the control act are unfair to both the shipper and grower, in that they tie up as much as 30 per cent of the crop each year.

The association, which is headed by D. W. Crowther, Placentia, will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the Rosenberg packing plant, Orange, to outline plans for future action in the matter. Attorneys for the group will meet with them, according to Secretary Ed Bissitt of Fullerton.

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Search for Lieut. John T. Helms, army aviator, was ordered resumed today in the canyons of the San Bernardino mountains where his plane crashed Dec. 30.

Flood waters from a heavy storm made the region impassable yesterday, nearly trapping a party headed by Coroner R. E. Williams. Only the slightest hope remained that Helms, who apparently escaped serious injury in the crash, was still alive. His plane was first sighted from the air Monday.

WOMEN THUGS GRAB BORAH

So Says Wife; He Denies It

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Senator Borah said it was just a joke. Mrs. Borah said it would "be too bad to spoil such a beautiful sensational story."

So here's her version of a tale that hit Washington late yesterday, that the senator, an avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, met up with two women thugs when out taking a brisk constitutional.

"What really happened was this," Mrs. Borah said:

"The senator was strolling up and down in front of the house when he saw two women hesitating, as though they were bewildered in direction. (A common phenomenon in Washington). 'He just thought they were going to ask directions when they stopped. Instead they really were thugs. One pinioned his arms. The other tried to go through his pockets. But he had on a heavy overcoat and was carrying a cane. He struck out with his cane and whistled shrilly and frightened them away. It happened right between the corner of our house and Kalorama corner on busy Connecticut avenue. But it was one of those bitter nights and not many people were out there."

Senator Borah went right on denying the story.

"There's nothing to it," he said.

"Mrs. Borah is perpetrating a joke. I'm the only person who knows and I say there isn't anything to it."

throughout the county. Since December, 1933, he has been employed here by the state board of equalization, and has been in charge of liquor license matters. For about three years prior to that he was county sealer of weights and measures.

Another question raised today was, "Who will Mr. Sidebottom's successor be?"

The position is under civil service. Mr. Sidebottom said today the state board of equalization has a list of eligible candidates. Three names probably will be furnished by the board to W. C. Shay, administrator of this district, at San Bernardino, and he will pick the appointee from the list. Mr. Sidebottom said.

To Decide Deputies

Tomorrow Mr. Sidebottom will confer with District Attorney W. F. Menton regarding legal aspects of his new position. Later, he said, he will decide on appointment of deputies. Mrs. Ruby McFarland, chief deputy recorder since 1927, and an employee of the office for 20 years, also was a candidate for the position.

Miss Whitney's resignation followed a jury's verdict that she had committed willful and corrupt misconduct in office. Following this verdict she was ordered removed by Presiding Judge G. K. Seovel, in accordance with the law. The case was a civil matter brought to court on an accusation by the grand jury. An indictment charging misappropriation of funds also was filed by the grand jury. After Miss Whitney's resignation this was dismissed on recommendation of the grand jury.

mother, Alice Little, were Boston people and they lived in Florence, Italy. Humphrey's father was a painter and he revelled in Italian scenes for his landscapes and marines.

Humphrey Cobb went to school in England and learned the usual round of Latin, Greek and so on, which goes to make up a public school education. However, Italian was his language and he spoke it more readily than English.

The Cobbs lived in Italy until their son was 13. In 1913 they left Florence and came to America. They wanted their children to have the benefits of an American education.

Nerves Shot

After three years' schooling, Humphrey was expelled for persistent insubordination. The war came. And the adventure Cobb imagined he would find in Flanders appealed to him. In September, 1916, he went to Montreal and enlisted in the Canadian forces and sailed for England.

In 1927, after remaining at Salisbury Plain for a year learning how to become a soldier. He was gassed twice in France and was twice hit by flying shrapnel.

After the war he went back to Canada; his nerves were shot and he was an embittered man. He tried his hand at a number of jobs and all, in his own words, were "lousy."

Means of Escape

Discontented and dissatisfied, he wandered aimlessly from England to the continent, from the continent to Africa on a freighter. He wrote a book about his travels and promptly dropped it overboard.

He was married and divorced. He later wrote another book, a history of the armistice, for and promptly shelved that. He tried a few more jobs and his job in the advertising office was the last straw.

Writing, he decided, was the only means of escape. Then the idea of the incident in the French army appealed to him and inspired him to write "Paths of Glory."

Be sure to watch for "Paths of Glory" when it starts Friday in The Journal. Its powerful drama, its fearless picture of modern war, its deep, profound understanding of men, life and love will live in your heart and your memory always.

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh bought his first plane at Americus, Ga.

OPEN BIDS ON BONDS SOON

The board of supervisors probably will open bids March 3 on $140,000 in bonds of the Santa Ana high school district. The board yesterday afternoon authorized County Clerk J. M. Backs to advertise the bonds for sale.

The bonds to be offered for sale are part of a $223,000 issue approved by the voters last Dec. 12, for construction of two high school buildings to replace those damaged by the 1933 earthquake.

Sale of the bonds has been deferred because it was reported that the Public Works administration, which had been asked for a grant to aid the project, had turned the application down. However, the school district, paving the way for launching the project. The loan will not be accepted by the board of education, it was said.

ROCK PILE PLAN BEING PUSHED

All that stands in the way of the rock pile for Santa Ana's traffic violators is the approval of the city council, expected to be given Monday night, opinions of City Attorney L. W. Blodgett and Chief of Police Floyd Howard indicated today.

Mr. Blodgett said that so far as he knows there is no provision in the state or county statutes which would prohibit a sentence of hard labor for a person convicted of a misdemeanor. There is nothing, he said, in the city statutes which would prohibit such a move.

Chief of Police Howard said he was proceeding with plans for instituting the corrective rock pile, confident that the city council would give its approval to the plan, as previously indicated by Police Commissioner Plummer Evans and Mayor Fred C. Rowland.

Some local attorneys had hazarded the opinion after the plan was first announced that such a step would be illegal, according to state constitution and law.

BOARD REFUNDS $1091 TAXES

Tax refunds amounting to $1091.74 were allowed by the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon on property used by public utilities. Claims for refunds were based on the assertion that the property is 100 per cent operative, that the utilities have paid their tax to the state on gross income and that the payment of the county tax amounted to double taxation.

The following refunds were authorized by the board: To John E. and Sarah M. Whitfield, Huntington Beach, $75.24, $51.05 and $69.96; to Charles F. Smith, Santa Ana, $238.08 and $205.69; Persis H. Ainsworth, Orange, $52.55 and $37.16; Bank of America National Trust and Savings association, Santa Ana, $153.29 and $143.59; Margaret D. Baxter, Placentia, $21.99, $13.88 and $29.26.

Four 'Bail Out' As Bomber Falls

ATLANTA, Feb. 12. (AP)—An LB-6 army bomber, abandoned by its parachute-equipped crew when engines faltered over dangerous terrain, was demolished in a crash 16 miles southwest of here today.

Four aviators, assigned to the plane for a mass flight with 10 other bombers and 13 pursuit ships from Langley Field, Va., to the Panama canal zone, escaped with only bruises and scratches.

Chief of Police Tom Murphine, Jr., and Officer Earl Moore of the San Clemente police department, returned the boys to the county jail late yesterday. According to Chief Murphine, they were riding in an assertedly stolen car at the time of their arrest.

SENTENCE PAIR HERE FRIDAY

Mina Barron and Carmen Hernandez, convicted on second degree burglary charges late yesterday by a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court, will be sentenced next Friday at 10 a. m. The jury which heard the evidence in their trial on four counts of burglary reached a verdict at 3:20 p. m. after about an hour's deliberation.

The two women were accused of entering the Hugh J. Lowe store, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Famous department stores. Several suits of clothes and an electric iron were exhibits in the case.

Deputy District Attorneys Harold McCabe and Clarence Sprague appeared for the prosecution. The defendants were represented by Beecher Stowe, Los Angeles attorney.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

A coroner's jury yesterday exonerated Pete Valles, 211 Franklin street, Santa Ana, of blame in the death early Monday of Victor Orosco, 21, of 1845 West Eighth street, Santa Ana. Orosco, an Orange county amateur boxer, died en route to the county hospital as the result of injuries sustained in a traffic accident on Manchester boulevard, one mile west of the county line. The coroner's jury found death was accidental.

visitors will be entertained until 9:30 p. m.

During the evening strolling troubadours will provide music in the museum and outside under the large trees.

The museum was a gift to the city by the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Bowers, about four years ago. The building has been completed for about two years.

Lack of funds, resulting from the effect of the depression on stocks and bonds left in the Bowers estate, has prevented its opening. This has been made possible now through a project on which the city and the Works Progress administration are cooperating.

Interesting Relics

One of the most interesting objects to be displayed is an old chest owned by Don Francisco Ortega, the first white man to see this country. Ortega was a scout for the Fortolite expedition which made a trip from San Diego to a point near San Francisco bay.

There are articles which once belonged to Don Jose Sepulveda, grantee of the San Joaquin ranch. Harold Wahlberg said today. The ranch was built on the site of a house west of this city. The house has been dismantled for many years. This group includes a saddle owned by Don Jose Sepulveda, and a shawl which has been famous because of its connection with a famous horse race of early days.

Don Jose Sepulveda imported a fast horse called Black Swan to race on a bet with Sarco, owned by Don Pio Pico, last governor of California before it became American territory. When Black Swan won the race Sonora Sepulveda threw the shawl over him as a token of gratitude and admiration.

Modjeska Displays

There are exhibits of articles once owned by Madame Helene Modjeska, famous actress of the nineties, whose home was in Modjeska canyon east of Orange. There also are special displays including birds and butterflies.

After Saturday the regular visiting hours at the museum will be Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, the hours being 10 a. m. to noon and 2 to 4:30 p. m. Children less than 12 years of age are requested to come escorted by parents or other adults, in view of the fact that youngsters under this age will find it difficult to understand the displays unless they are explained, Mrs. Coulter said.

On Friday at 3:30 p. m. the board of directors of the museum will hold a preview for members of the city council and their wives.

JAIL STUDENTS FOR ROBBERY

Two Los Angeles youths, who yesterday told officers they were students at the University of California at Los Angeles, are in the county jail charged with second degree burglary. Yesterday noon they assertedly burglarized the Richfield service station in San Clemente operated by "Bunny" Hanson, son of San Clemente's former mayor, Ole Hanson.

The boys, Harold Barrett, 22, and Virgil Stevens, 18, after allegedly rifling the cash register of $10, sped north along the coast highway, but later doubled back on their tracks. They were arrested by California highway patrolmen at Carlsbad two hours later.

Chief of Police Tom Murphine, Jr., and Officer Earl Moore of the San Clemente police department, returned the boys to the county jail late yesterday. According to Chief Murphine, they were riding in an assertedly stolen car at the time of their arrest.

Orchardists, beet and bean growers were grateful today for more than an inch of rain which fell over most of Orange county and were hopeful for more, as weather authorities predicted further showers today, tonight and tomorrow generally over Southern California.

The showers will be of great aid to beet and bean growers in getting their ground in shape for the spring planting, Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg said today. The rain will also be of benefit to cover crops in orchards, insuring a heavy growth during the spring, he added.

Walnut growers are hoping for further storms, as several more inches will be necessary for enough penetration to start buds on the trees, he said. From two to three more inches would be necessary to take the place of irrigation in citrus groves, he added.

JACKSON WARS ON HOBOES

Sheriff Logan Jackson today announced a campaign to keep Orange county as free as possible from transients, and at the same time urged residents in unincorporated areas to telephone his office whenever transients come to their doors asking for food.

"Yesterday, I received a report that a truckload of transients had been unloaded at the county line on Telegraph road just north of Northam Station," Sheriff Jackson said. "If this is true, and I have no reason to doubt the word of the man who reported the incident, something must be done."

"Several of my deputies are patrolling the unincorporated areas today, and will arrest all transients or run them out of the county."

MORE ABOUT AMELIA

my first glimpse of Miss Earhart. I arrived very early at the clubhouse and paced up and down, looking for her. Finally, an usherette whispered that she was broadcasting in the lounge.

I sneaked back to the lounge and there through a curtained French door caught sight of my quarry, curled up on a big divan, grinning at a broad-shouldered man seated beside her—George Putnam, her husband.

She looks so tiny that it's a shock to find she's really rather tall. Her figure is as slim as a pussywillow, and she's distinctly feminine.

Returning to the club foyer, I saw Mr. Putnam again. Perhaps because he used to be a fourth estate himself, he stood patiently and submitted to quizzing.

"Do you think Amelia looks like Lindbergh?" I asked.

Her husband didn't hesitate. "I know Lindbergh very well, and I think sometimes she looks extremely like him. If you asked her, she'd probably say she didn't know how she looked."

Winchell's Wrong

"Winchell had it in his column a few weeks ago," he said, "but it's not so. He said she was leaving in June. She's booked for lectures until the middle of May, and it takes lots of time to prepare for a long flight. She has no plans for further record-breaking flights—though you never know."

"Would you like her to stay at home all the time, and, er, knit?" Then Mr. Putnam got serious.

"Not at all," he declared. "If she were at home all the time, I'd probably get bored. If you're in love, get your man—don't let him get away! Then take my advice, and be sure to stay away from him at least half of the time. That way you won't grow tired of each other."

He said she'd had to give up costume designing, it took too much of her time . . . that she'd probably designed the dress she was wearing, though.

After seeing them together, across the footlights from one another, and walking toward each other, I'm convinced theirs is not only a marriage but an extremely fast friendship. And I don't believe for a minute that Mr. Putnam has ever considered separation because he was tired of being called Miss Earhart's husband.

Each of them is an individual who has conquered his chosen field.

When a million Southern California families—all of them at once—begin to cook dinner, heat water, and warm the house, your natural gas service is only going through another daily "rush hour." Day after day and night after night the service never quits and never falters.

These morning and evening rush hours are times when natural gas proves its speed and reliability in cooking. There's no coaxing the pot to boil—no waiting while the burners "warm up." Natural gas delivers full heat instantly, right to the point where it is needed.

Let your appliance dealer or your gas company show you the newest ranges, water heaters, and that marvel of engineering efficiency—the Electrolux.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

THIS may be a little late—or early—to talk about Christmas, but we just couldn't help it.

Immediately, it made us think of Dr. C. G. Huston, the Costa Mesa Christmas lighting expert.

In the official publication of the state league of municipalities for last month, they give two pages to efforts expended toward holiday decoration. It's a fine story and gives lots of our towns a big boost.

But, what struck us the most was the thought that a great deal of the advertisement received by Huntington Beach, San Clemente, Newport and all the rest was due to Dr. Huston.

He really started this Christmas lighting business several years back—as chairman of the Coast Association's lighting committee. A job, incidentally, which he's going to undertake again next Christmas.

"Forty miles of Christmas Smiles" mentioned in the "Western City" article are from the Coast group's contests staged every year. All cities participating are prominently mentioned in the article—hurray, say we for Dr. Huston and the Coast association!

The article starts out with Anaheim—tells of the cost for decorations there—about $1000, which is lots of shekels, but the business men and George Reid's chamber of commerce gladly shelled out, according to the story. Then Fullerton gets a boost—again the business men and the C. of C. They had 12-foot trees for their decorations. Cost not so much, because they already had all the equipment and only had to buy the trees.

Huntington Beach, winner of the biggest share of prizes in the Coast association contest, received a good write-up—the community effort to decorate and functions held at the shrine at the foot of Main street all described. Laguna Beach's community tree—which cost $25 also is patted on the back, if one puts Christmas trees on the back. Does one?

Newport's floating tree, as is just received, many words of praise. Award of prizes by merchants for decorated homes was also described. The city of Orange—remember those wonderful decorations?—paid out about $300, and it was worth many times that!

San Clemente's shrine and the other decorations were nicely described—Dan Mulherron donated that tree—we didn't know that before. Santa Ana comes in for a big boost for the decorations, too, and the cellophane-decorated lights at Seal Beach ends the parade. The Seal Beach lighting, by the way, cost only $31.54, and was worth every cent of it. Each street light was wrapped in the colored paper, and the result was beautiful.

So, Orange county and the Coast association received much praise.

And, we think that Dr. Huston should receive a great deal of credit. He says no, but we still think so.

We're in search of another story—about the rancher who lives in the sandwash east of Anaheim—or south of Placentia, either one—Anyhow, he had some ducks. Very nice ducks.

The ducks, so we heard, wandered too close to a fumigating tent, and were promptly fumigated, along with bugs and what-not on the trees.

The owner—well he got his name one of these days—had his pets sniff ammonia. They all showed signs of life. They still acted sort of groggy, however, so he prepared some mash for 'em and then injected a spoonful of Christmas cheer for each duck.

The result, according to the story, was startling. If ducks can giggle, we suppose they did, because they did almost everything else.

He's still hunting for a few of 'em, we heard. They wandered away, hic!—and never came home!

Ramblings in the rain: Visit Newport sometime in a rainstorm—it's nice, although wet. . . Costa Mesa, also. . . Everything there's looking much greener, and the herds of goats—everyone in town, almost, seems to own one—those goats look happier. Lots of grass to eat. Nature note—they don't really eat cans, anyway. . . Frank Rinehart, Newport's clerk, stops to say "Hi" back at him and asked a favor, which he performed with great speed. . . Almost called on Harold Grauel, Costa Mesa, but just when we reached his front door it started to rain again, so we went on—see him next time. . . Saw lots of farmers. Not one was jumping up and clicking his heels about the welcome rain, but we didn't see anyone frowning, either. . . Was it our imagination, or was traffic really going more slowly through Costa Mesa? Perhaps, by now, everyone's heard of Judge Dodge and how he talks to speeders. . .

The history of Portsmouth, Va., dates back to Bacon's rebellion in 1676, the city itself was founded in 1752.

H. B. SEWER CONTRACT AWARD

NEW SYSTEM FOR CITY APPROVED

Work to Start at Once on $79,753 Project, Council Decides

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—The Hoagland Engineering and Construction company, Long Beach, was awarded the contract for construction of a municipal sewage disposal system at a meeting of the council last night. The contract is for $79,753.

Word was received from PWA headquarters that the contract has been approved as recommended earlier by the city council.

Construction work will start as soon as bonds are approved by PWA. A treatment plant will be constructed on a 44-acre tract east of the city and 2800 feet of pipeline will be laid to carry sludge to adjoining acreage.

Councilman Lee Chamness asked advice on procedure of requesting voters to decide whether the city shall exercise its 5 per cent limitation on budget increase and construct a recreation building on the ocean front. City Attorney Ray Overacker was instructed to ascertain whether the matter can be handled in this fiscal year or carried into the next fiscal year.

Mr. Chamness said he would like to place the matter on the April ballot.

C. K. Morrison, owner of two barges which he operates offshore during the summer season, applied for an exclusive permit to operate liveaboard boats from the municipal pier for a period of five years.

He proposed a flat rate of $125 a year or five cents per passenger and offered to carry ample public liability and property damage insurance. The council held the matter over until the next meeting.

WESTMINSTER.—The Japanese Union church, in Los Angeles was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday afternoon, when Haisuko Matsumiya, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rinzeemon Matsumiya, was united in marriage to James Tanabe of Oxnard, in the presence of 300 invited guests.

Orion Bebermeyer sang "I Love You Truly" before the ceremony. Mrs. Lucile Wise played the wedding march as the procession and Mendelssohn's wedding music at the close of the ceremony. The marriage lines were read by the Rev. Yamaguchi, pastor of the church at Wintersburg, of which the bride was a member. Following the ceremony a wedding feast was served at an Oriental cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Tanabe will make their home at Oxnard, where he has extensive ranching interests.

Mrs. Tanabe is a graduate of the Huntington Beach high school and is a member of a family prominent in Japanese affairs in this locality.

TALMADGE, ICKES CLASH OVER INTERPRETATIONS OF LINCOLN

DICTATORSHIP ATTRIBUTED TO LEADER

Was Anti-Boondoggler, Says Governor of Georgia in Speech

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12. (AP)—Divergent interpretations of Abraham Lincoln as a President who "scuttled the American constitution" and as a man who knew it was impossible to "boondoggle yourself back to prosperity," were contemplated today by political leaders.

Two bitter political foes, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes and Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia, speaking from the same platform last night presented their views of the Civil War President in present day political terms.

"Set Up Dictatorship," Ickes, a former Republican, spoke of Lincoln's willingness to end slavery despite the constitution. "It appears to have been Abraham Lincoln," said Ickes, "who scuttled the American constitution, set up a dictatorship, threw the supreme court into the Potomac river and declared a moratorium on congress."

Gov. Talmadge, a Democrat and foe of the administration, wished "a man like Lincoln" were President now. "He would never allow a brain trust's creed to reach the doctrine that you can boondoggle yourself back to prosperity," said the Georgian.

Ickes compared the present day Liberty league with those who charged Lincoln attempted to replace the constitution with a dictatorship.

"Many McClellans," Gen. George B. McClellan ran against him for President in 1864 on a "Save the Constitution" platform," Ickes said. "We seem to have many George McClellans now."

Talmadge, the first Southern governor to pay homage to the emancipator's shrine here, said the nation should emulate Lincoln's example "and not run wild on a dream that the government

'SHOP TALK'

Snapshots by The Journal's Candid Cameraman

"When good fellows get together," they talk business, especially when they're all associated with the same firm. That's what Rodney Bacon (left), D. M. Terhune (center) and George H. Sullivan (right), all of the Southern California Edison Company, were doing when The Journal's candid cameraman happened along and snapped them. Watch tomorrow's picture; it may be you.

Meanwhile, every state in the union was invited today to contribute to a new picturesque floral shrine to Abraham Lincoln.

Washington, Florida and Kentucky already had notified a memorial garden committee they were preparing donations of flowers, shrubs or trees for the "living memorial" which has been plotted on the shores of Lake Springfield.

MERRIAM SEES G. O. P. AS SALVATION HOPE

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 12. (AP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam, in a Lincoln day address, expressed confidence that the Republican party would solve modern problems of "human bondage" in the same spirit expressed by the great emancipator.

"There remains much to be done in order that the rank and file of the people of America may enjoy the advantages which life in this great republic may well offer," the governor told the San Diego county Republican league last night.

BUILD PHONE LINE IN WAR ON FIRES

A new "battle line" against forest fires in Orange county will be completed in the near future as a result of action taken by the board of supervisors yesterday afternoon. The "battle line" will be a complete telephone communication system between Gilman Peak in the northern part of the county, to Trabuco canyon on the south.

Part of the line already is installed. Yesterday State Forest Ranger Joe Scherman of Orange secured approval of the supervisors for a Works Progress administration project for construction of a seven-mile sector of phone line from Yorba Linda to Santiago creek. Completion of this stretch, with other work now under way, will finish the north-to-south communication system, Mr. Scherman said.

The cost of the new project to the county will be $250, to come from the forestry fund. The total cost of the project is to be $246. Mr. Scherman said the telephone system will be of invaluable assistance in relaying news of fires from station to station and in directing the battles against such blazes.

RELATIVE OF FRANCES WILLARD ENTERTAINS W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Theo. Winbiger, whose mother, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, was a cousin of the late Frances Willard, entertained the W. C. T. U. yesterday afternoon in her home on East Ninth street. It was the annual Willard memorial meeting of the union, traditionally held in the Winbiger home.

Despite the rain, a number of members attended. Mrs. Effie Nicholson presided. Jessie Burns Stewart assisted Mrs. Winbiger in presenting the program.

The Rev. Dr. A. E. Kelly, United Presbyterian pastor, led the devotionals. Mrs. Harry Hayes led the group in singing, and then sang solos. Mrs. W. B. Snow was her accompanist. Dr. Kelly read the crusade psalm.

Mrs. P. R. Arnold read a sketch of Frances Willard's life. Mrs. Thomas Willets sang "Crossing the Bar" with Miss Ruth Armstrong at the piano. Mrs. John Wehrly read a story. Elizabeth Winbiger, great-granddaughter of the late Mrs. Mills, read a paper by her on "Our Chieftain."

Mrs. R. R. Lutes discussed the Willard centenary fund. Miss Esther Jean Davis led her Willard Junior High school boys glee club in songs.

Construction of a new tuberculosis ward at the county hospital may start within two weeks as a result of action by the board of supervisors yesterday in recommending that the contract be awarded to L. Juvenile Is Most Difficult Transient, Says Mrs. Allen, County's Probation Chief

(Today The Journal is presenting the fifth of a series of articles dealing with the transient welfare problem in Orange county. The question will be examined from many angles, including that of the transient himself, in an effort to present a working picture of the situation, which has been brought forcefully into the public consciousness by action of Los Angeles police in attempting to keep indigents from entering the state.—Editor.)

By BOB GUILD

The hardest, foolhardiest and most difficult transient on the road is not the seasoned blanket-stiff. It is the juvenile.

It is the boy or girl on his way nowhere or somewhere, who ran away from home or never had a home, who is "just going."

Yesterday Los Angeles police ran out of the state the first batch of 50 indigent transients, some with criminal records, who had no resources and no hope. More than half of them were juveniles.

How many of these are there here? We asked Mrs. Nora Allen, county probation and juvenile officer, that question today, and her answer was this:

"We don't get them in this department any more," she said. "By rights the police department is supposed to turn them all over to us, but we don't have the money to spend on them, so the police send them out of town, along with the rest of the bums they catch up with."

"Then we're accused of not doing a good job of social rehabilitation. The truth of the matter is that nine times out of 10 we couldn't do a good job with them anyway, and the other time we haven't the money."

There are perhaps three juveniles caught in the transient dragnet of the Santa Ana police a day, on the average. They are, as Sergeant Neuschwanger says, a new transient, born of the depression, and brought up in the idea that there isn't a job to be had even if they tried to find a job.

Here's Procedure

In case the juvenile transient is caught in the toils of the law here in Santa Ana the procedure is somewhat like this:

The youth is referred to the superior court (Judge Ames) and made a ward of the court. Then he is referred to a state school of correction, and enrolled as a state charge.

Eventually the state of California (at further expense to the taxpayer) makes up a "deportation train," sending its undesirable back where they came from.

Provided that telegrams and letters from the point where the juvenile was apprehended had been successful in establishing his legal residence, he is loaded on this deportation train and sent home.

COUNTY G. O. P. SELECTS 12 LEADERS

Two vice presidents and 10 directors, representing the southern division of the Orange County Republican assembly, were elected last night, when members of the group held an organization meeting at James cafe. The two vice presidents are Leslie Kimmel, Laguna Beach, and Gordon Richmond, Orange.

The 10 directors from the southern district, which comprises the seventy-fourth assembly district, are as follows: Dick Jones, Orange; Carl Schroeder, Orange; Le Roy Anderson, Costa Mesa; A. B. Rousselle, Newport Beach; C. C. Barnett, Laguna Beach; Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano; Tom Murphree, San Clemente; Col. M. B. Wellington, Tustin; Harold P. Harrison and Franklin West, Santa Ana.

E. M. Sundquist, executive vice president of the Orange County Republican assembly, Albert Launer, Fullerton, and Mr. Kimmel gave reports on the recent state convention in Santa Barbara. All three expressed confidence in the sincerity and honesty of purpose of the California organization. They said it was evident that the state Republican assembly is an absolutely independent organization, that the assembly apparently is going to consider political questions very carefully before committing itself, and that it is not tied to any group, faction or individual.

U. D. C. CHAPTER TO MEET TOMORROW

Emma Sansom chapter, U. D. C., will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. E. C. Martin, East Chestnut avenue, with Mesdames Laura Looney, T. J. Haughton, Lily Hamilton and Belle Nuckolls hostessing.

Mrs. Gus J. Miller is planning a program on the history of the mardi gras.

A Salvation Army or an institution shelter.

They carry nothing with them, they take away what they can lift. And they are a problem that has not been solved.

Mrs. Allen says they do not belong to the community in which they are found. She says, as do others, that they belong to the nation at large. They know no boundaries, nor does their welfare. Tomorrow we will examine what the National Welfare association thinks.

It Was Only a Detail But It Influenced Her Life

By FRANCES TIPTON LONG
Noted Authority on Charm and Personality

In a certain western city, after having spent 20 long years behind the bars, a woman was recently released from the penitentiary with an apology! Youth and beauty are gone. Alone, friendless and penniless she faces what is left of her life.

Why the apology? Because a court clerk carelessly wrote "years" instead of "months" in the record of the prisoner's sentence. Merely a mistake in detail, but it ruined this woman's life.

Napoleon was a great believer in details. He planned the exact route which each regiment would follow, the exact day and hour it was to leave its station and the precise moment when it was to reach its destination. These details so carefully planned were carried out to the letter. One result of such careful detailed planning was that memorable march that brought victory at Austerlitz and sealed the fate of Europe.

The ability to handle details is one of great importance in life, regardless of whether your ambition is to make a great commercial success or to attain a high position in society. And it is an ability that many people lack.

"Trifles make perfection and perfection is no trifle," said Michelangelo, the great Italian genius. Those who are interested in building more charming personalities should engrave that sentence upon the tablets of their memories. Because charm is the sum total of a number of details each of which, alone, is relatively unimportant.

Among the 10 arts of attraction which go to make up the truly charming personality are individual items which may be considered as minor details. By themselves, they are. But when grouped with the other arts of attraction they take on a great importance because, without them, the personality is less than completely charming.

Watch Your Appeal
"Take care of your pennies and your dollars will take care of themselves" might be re-written "Take care of the ten arts of attraction and your charm will take care of itself."

Details are especially important in clothes. "Clothes make the man"—and the woman, too. "Just anything won't do. Every detail should be watched closely. Women should not forget that flowers complete the ensemble. Men should remember that breast pocket handkerchief and a flower in the buttonhole. Just details, but they play a mighty part in the presentation of the charming personality.

And, while considering these things, one should not forget that bigger detail—the right type of appeal.

The person who has the ability to handle details is a person who possesses the ability to develop a complete charming personality with comparative ease, because his nature is such that he will overlook nothing that may assist him in winning the things he wants, whether they be romance, popularity or success.

When Frances Tipton Long prepares a charm analysis of your personality she will tell you whether or not you have detail.

USE THIS COUPON FOR YOUR CHARM ANALYSIS OF YOUR PERSONALITY
Mrs. Frances Tipton Long, Care of The Journal, Santa Ana, California:

Please send me a confidential charm and personality analysis of my handwriting, prepared especially for me. I understand you will also give me practical vocational suggestions, tell me my best Type of Appeal, and send me your pamphlet, "Know Yourself," and your Charm Chart revealing the Ten Arts of Attraction and the Forty Types of Appeal. I enclose:

1. Five lines or more of my natural handwriting.
2. Fifteen cents to cover cost of handling.

"I'll have at you before you have at me," said Amelia Earhart to Santa Ana Ebells clubwomen, their husbands and other guests last night in Ebells clubhouse. So saying, she called for a hand vote on three questions. "How many of you have been in an airplane in the last three years?"

Heart Motif Used At Shower

Smart adaptations of the valentine motif to provide decorations for parties soared to a new peak last night when Miss Margaret Guard and Miss Alma McClain hosted at a shower for Miss Rosalind Schilling at the home of Miss Guard, 702 Oak street.

Miss Schilling is to be married to Lee Hasenjaeger.

At the refreshment hour, each of the small bridge tables, where the guests were served, was centered with a novel heart, edged in cellophane and banded with a strip of gold which nestled in a foundation of red crushed cellophane. From the center of the heart, rose a tall red candle which had been lighted. At each guest's place were large red gumdrops in which had been inserted white heart-shaped candles, which were also lighted.

Molded ice cream and cake were served with small heart-shaped petit fours.

Throughout the house, bowls of red flowers had been used, a bouquet of long-stemmed red carnations with red tapers at either side, centering most of the attention.

Prizes in the play of bridge went to Mrs. Paul Reynolds, Mrs. Clyde Higgins, and Miss Helen Demetriou.

A shower of kitchen gifts was presented the honoree.

The guest list included: Mesdames Rod Smiley, Allen Carstensen, Paul Reynolds, Stewart Diehl and Clyde Higgins and the Misses Dorothy Dunbar, Miriam Samuelson, Norma Wilson, Florence Turner, Agnes McKinstry, Mary Jean DuBois, Jessie McClain, Helen Demetriou, Betty Vorce, Verna Helm, May Berkner, May Hasenjaeger and the honoree.

MRS. C. SUDDABY HONORED AT EVENING PARTY

Compliments for Mrs. Cecil Suddaby centered in the presentation of a bathinet from the guests who assembled at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Savage, 2012 Maple street, last night to honor her at a stork shower.

Decorations on a center table included a tall stork, poised on a mirror with a family of smaller storks gathered around. Sweet peas centered each of the bridge tables when refreshments were served. Stork tallies were used in the play of bridge.

Prizes in cards went to Mrs. Esther Rannels and Mrs. William Jerome, Jr.

Others present included Mesdames Frank L. Goddard, Charles Guyer, Clarence Watkins, Edward Elterman, Raymond Stein, and the Misses Julie Bingham, Mildred Pence, Marian Pence and Barbara Goff, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Bruce Vegely, Artesia; Mrs. Gilbert Meisinger and Miss Katherine Harbert, Santa Ana.

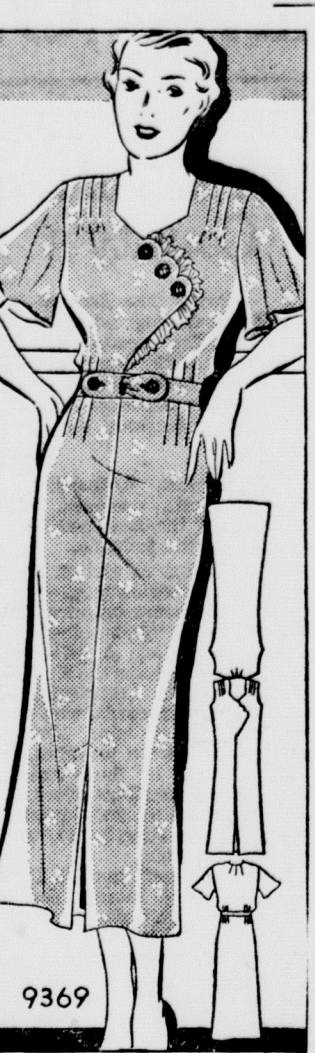

CLUB FETED AT ROWLAND HOME

SISTER HONORS PEGGY WARBURTON AT BRIDAL SHOWER

Her sister, Mrs. Norman McClay (Jessie Warburton) came from Hollywood Saturday to be hostess at an afternoon event at the home of her mother, Mrs. Christine Warburton, 306 South Garnsey street.

In the valentine motif, Mrs. McClay had used bowls of scarlet and white sweet peas with gypsophylla. Heart-decorated tablecloths were spread for the refreshment hour when molded fruit salads were served with valentine cake and coffee.

Miss Marie Smith, Mrs. Harold Leach and Mrs. Jack Casey took awards in the play of handicap bridge during the afternoon. With the presentation of the prizes came a shower of gifts for Miss Warburton.

Those bidden to the event were the honoree; their mother; Mrs. Ray Edwards, mother of her fiancé; Miss Marie Smith, and Mesdames Calvin Flint, James Musick, Earl Browning, David Smith, Jack Casey, Ray Lancaster, James F. McDonald, Eleanor Leach, Vernon Matthews, Harvey Bear and Francis Harvey.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S VISIT PLANNED FOR BY NATIVE DAUGHTERS

A valentine exchange followed. Open-face sandwiches, French pastries and coffee were served. Red heart-shaped candles decorated the tables.

Ann Thuesam of San Francisco, is the grand president.

Plans were made to place a marker on the battleship "California."

Thimble club members finished two comforters for the needy at their meeting last week with Stella Gates. Feb. 20 they will meet with Olive Selvidge.

More than 400 spectators braved the rain to attend the benefit program. Members of the association had donned Mexican costumes to usher guests and sell their penuche candies.

"We feel the program was quite a success," declared Miss Rowena Newcomb, president, this morning, "and are grateful to those who were interested in attending the program."

The dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, parents of Mrs. Flint, at 1717 North Broadway.

Mary Stoddard "Miss Eighteen" Is Wondering What Home Life Is Really All About

When I receive a letter from a 'teen child relating difficulties with a parent I am always perplexed; in fact, it leaves me quite cold. I ever endeavor to be the champion of parents. A letter written in a round, neat, childish scroll is at hand. I vision a girl with the rose and gold of life's pathway stretched before her—but her mother doesn't understand her; or, rather, she doesn't understand her mother.

Edith Cloyes Addresses Section

From her wide background of biographical information, Mrs. Edith Cloyes built a colorful description of the life and works of Leonardo de Vinci in a talk before members of the Fifth Ward hold Economics section of Ebells club yesterday.

Several small miniatures of the artist's paintings were displayed for the group, by the speaker, who is known throughout the district as a federation of women's clubs for her arduous literary studies.

Guests with Mrs. Cloyes at the luncheon, which preceded the meeting, were Mrs. May Bassett and Mrs. Mabel Prescott. Tables had been decorated with spring flowers.

Mrs. F. F. Mead presided at the business session, preceding the afternoon's play of bridge. Prizes went to Mrs. Prescott and Mrs. C. E. Hilton.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Howard Bowman, Mrs. Roy Browning, Mrs. Ellis Diehl and Mrs. Howard Stone.

Members and friends are to visit Winbiger's chapel Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 7:15 p. m.

The next business meeting is slated for March 9 at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mrs. G. L. Helm, 441 South Birch street, with Mrs. Charles Brown co-hostessing.

Mexican pottery was used in the dessert hour and tiny potted cacti were favors.

Present were Mesdames Carl Fisher, Frank E. Stillwell, J. E. Swanger, E. R. Kimmel, G. L. Helm, Charles Brown, C. A. Rousseau, J. W. Parkinson, Mabel Sherwood, J. A. Randall, C. M. Marvin, W. J. Shidler and Miss Catherine Rousseau.

LINCOLN HONORED BY WAR VETERANS

Honor was paid the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln at last night's Campfire camp and auxiliary, United Spanish War Veterans, meeting in the K. C. hall.

Commander James A. Randel and President Hazel Hall had charge of the program and Katherine Reagan, of card games.

Past Department Commander Charles D. Dixon told of being a guest at Rotary club meeting and hearing S. C. Hartranft yesterday discuss Lincoln.

It was explained the word United in the organization's title was used because of the amalgamation of three Spanish-American war veteran groups in 1904.

Charles E. Dixon won a prize in auction bridge.

LOOK AHEAD TO DANCE MARCH 14

Rare Verses Read At Section

An open fireplace at the home of Mrs. Earl Ladd, 1325 Cypress street, on a rainy morning was an incentive yesterday for a small group of poetry section members of the Woman's club of Santa Ana to bring out hidden lines of choice flavor.

Patriotism and valentines had been set as the subject of the morning, but the group digressed to contribute writings on other topics, as well.

Mrs. Ladd had bowls of yellow and bowls of blue spring flowers set throughout the room to add color to the occasion.

As a special treat, she read a poem "Color," written by the late Myra Catharine Davis of Washington, D. C., just before her death.

Others present, besides the hostess, were Mrs. J. Edmund Snow, Mrs. R. W. Cole, Mrs. E. M. Waycott, Mrs. E. G. Warner and Mrs. Margaret Church.

QUILL PEN CLUB MEETS AT MILDRED WATSON'S

What Quill Pen scribes have been working at for the past few months came to light Monday night at a meeting at the home of Miss Mildred Watson, 273 Harwood, Orange.

Mrs. Annette Smith read a group of poems and short descriptive pieces. Concluding selections from "Pidota-Pidonta," were read by Mrs. J. U. Viau, who has delighted members with excerpts from the satire on previous occasions. Mrs. Frank was read a new play.

Red, white and blue decorations were used on the tea table at which Mrs. William Fritcher poured. Candles were used in corresponding colors.

Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Blanche Brown, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mrs. Marah Adams, Mrs. Frank Wiley, Mrs. Clyde A. Watson, mother of the hostess, and Mrs. Ethel K. Lockwood, a guest.

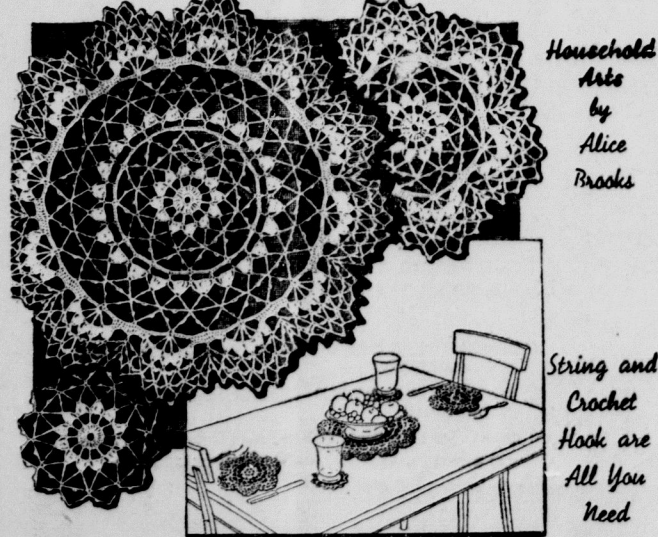

NAMES SIGNED ON SHOW PROGRAMS

Names were inscribed by the score on the Assistance League Amateur program last night at the Amelia Earhart lecture. The signatures are to supplant advertising on the program.

Under chairmanship of Mrs. Mortimer Plum, the committee on programs augmented their list, which had already grown to 150. Those working with her are Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mrs. Hugh Lowe, Mrs. Rex Kennedy and Mrs. Herbert Miller.

Through special arrangements, Jean Harlow's signature was obtained last night in San Pedro at a similar amateur show and Amelia Earhart's here.

MOTOR VEHICLES SET STATE RECORD IN 1935

REGISTRATION GREATEST IN HISTORY

Fee-Paid Machines of Year Beat Those of 1934 by 173,944

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 12.—Shattering all records, California rolled forward to prosperity on rubber tires in 1935 to list 2,254,828 motor vehicles as having paid registration fees in comparison with 2,080,884 in the 12-month period of 1934.

In addition to showing a gain of 173,944 fee-paid registrations of vehicles in the last year, the 1935 total smashed the previous high mark of 1931, when 2,107,275 car owners paid for number plates.

Increase 8.36 per cent. Representing an increase of 8.36 per cent in fee-paid registrations over the 1934 figure, the 1935 total was presented to Gov. Frank F. Merriam last week by Ray Ingels, director of motor vehicles, with the statement: "Here is concrete evidence of California's trend toward stabilized prosperity."

Film Stars Safe Drivers, Says Traffic Cop Who Guards Busy Hollywood Corner

The observations of Harry Beerup, Hollywood traffic officer, seem to indicate that the movie stars are a careful lot behind the wheels of their motor cars. Jean Harlow, left, is quick on the brakes, he says, and Joan Crawford drives better than any man he's ever seen.

SHELL STARTS OLDFIELD AIDS SAFETY WORK

Shell Oil Company today announced the start of its 1936 advertising program which will rank with the largest and most comprehensive ever undertaken by any Pacific coast organization. Newspapers will form the backbone of Shell's 1936 sales promotion work and 371 different dailies and weeklies will be used, with national magazines, outdoor posters, radio and direct mail advertising giving specialized help in their respective fields.

The Santa Ana Journal has been chosen to carry news of Shell's products to residents of this territory, and will be one of the important units of Shell's advertising program, according to N. H. Wulff, local manager for Shell, who has just received details from W. P. Durkee, vice president in charge of marketing.

"The business picture at this time is most favorable," Mr. Durkee wrote. "There is optimism in every line of business. Service station operators are in a particularly good position to reap dividends this year because hundreds of thousands of new cars have just been put into circulation and travel is increasing every day."

RAIN CONTEST STILL IS ON

Two-Inches Is Not Here Yet

Bit by bit the rain gauges are filling, but the present storm still leaves us short of the required two inches to end this contest. Up to 8 o'clock this morning

84 of an inch of rain had fallen in Santa Ana. Rain guessers, however, can be of good cheer, as the weather man says more rain is due.

Today came another guess for the contest, from C. F. Winklerpleck, route 4, box 110-A, Santa Ana Gardens. Mrs. Winklerpleck says the two-inch rain will begin at 2 a. m. on March 5.

"Not until 1937," said Bob Geivet, 421 1/2 South Ross street, today. "About the first of January next year." The rain editor personally considers that a pessimistic estimate.

Get your guess in. In order to qualify as a rain expert of the first water it is only necessary to name the day and hour on which the next two-inch rain starts. The Journal is offering a new umbrella to the guesser coming closest.

Here Are 2-Inch Rain-Guessers And Their Guesses

Those who have entered The Journal's rain-guessing contest and whose guesses have not been invalidated already by the time element, follow, together with the dates and hours they have selected for the city's first two-inch rain to begin:

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12. (AP)—Jean Harlow is quick on the brakes.

Joan Crawford is a better automobile driver than "any man I have ever seen."

Harry Beerup says so, and he has been watching and detecting the coming and going of stars in cars for four years. He is traffic officer at the intersection of the studio roadway and the busy boulevard outside.

The road through the big studio gates is a continuation of another street directly opposite. From where Harry stands, turning with the traffic lights, he can observe the driving idiosyncracies of the stars.

Clark Gable, he has observed for instance, always passes through the exact center of the gate with mathematical accuracy. Robert Montgomery and Chester Morris have almost identical mannerisms in driving. Both slow down as they pass to give Harry a "Good morning."

Lionel Barrymore comes to a full halt, instead of a slightly perceptible pause, at "boulevard stops." When Luise Rainer drives her own car, she is more timid than most—even on a "go" light she hesitates to see that other drivers are obeying their "stop" signal.

Actors and actresses, Harry comments, are better motorists than writers and directors.

That may be—although Harry didn't say—because players know the exact relation of their faces to their fortunes. And writers and directors may be abstracted in their driving because they are always trying to figure out new ways for boy to meet girl.

CARAVAN TOUR ON MEXICAN COAST STARTS FEB. 20

Word has just been received that the highway department of Mexico is moving its machinery to the west coast, which means the attractions and scenic beauties of that part of Mexico will make way for the machine age, and what is probably the last place on earth where people may look on civilization as it prevailed 400 years ago will disappear.

Because of this, everyone who ever intends to view this land of romance, history and scenic grandeur will be interested in the news that the third annual caravan tour down the west coast of Mexico, returning via the new Pan-American highway, will leave Los Angeles Feb. 20 under the direction of Sprott's Mexico Tours. The tour travels in sleeping busses, while some drive their own cars. In places where hotel accommodations are not available, the buses and tents are used.

The originator of these popular tours conducted the first two that were ever operated under government supervision.

REBUFF TO MOTOR AGE
ORANGEBURG, S. C. Feb. 12. (AP)—The motor age received a rebuff at a sale of confiscated vehicles here. Two automobiles, in fair condition, sold for a total of $19. Then a horse and wagon were offered. Bidding grew spirited. They finally were sold. The sale price was $119.

NEW TWIN BILL AT WALKER'S

Dumas' immortal story, "The Three Musketeers," has once more been put on the screen, and the latest version, together with a new story, "Annapolis Farewell," will be shown at Walker's State theater for two days beginning tonight.

In "The Three Musketeers," Walter Abel, Broadway stage idol, plays the audacious D'Artagnan, while the musketeering trio is played by Paul Lukas, Onslow Stevens and Moroni Olson. Others prominent in the cast of the picture, whose setting is laid in France during the "reign" of the famous Cardinal Richelieu, are Margot Grahame, Heather Angel, Ian Keith, Rosamond Pincho, John Qualen, Ralph Forbes and Nigel de Bruier.

A drama depicting the training, hopes, ambitions and problems that confront the fortunate group of American youth admitted to the United States Naval Academy comes to the screen in "Annapolis Farewell."

Principal roles are taken by Sir Guy Standing, Rosalind Keith, Tom Brown, Richard Cromwell and Benny Baker.

RAILROAD SUE FOR DAMAGES

Heirs of the late Jessie L. Williams, 45, fatally injured in an automobile-train wreck Dec. 29, is seeking $20,000 in damages from the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railway and William Riggs, engineer, in a suit started in superior court. The accident occurred at Orangehorpe road and the Santa Fe tracks.

Plaintiffs in the case are Nep B. Williams, widow, Forest D. Williams, son, and Opal Ardona Thompson, daughter, all of Los Angeles county. The complaint said Mrs. Williams was riding in a car which was unable to stop in time at the crossing when the train appeared, because the wig-wag signal assertedly was not going and did not warn of the approaching train.

Crash damages denied by jury

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Eichhorn, Hermosa Beach, failed Monday in their attempt to collect $10,000 damages from Mr. and Mrs. Joshua A. Rittoff of San Diego, for injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the Coast highway between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach. After about an hour's deliberation on the evidence produced at the trial, a jury in Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel's court refused a verdict for the plaintiffs.

The jury also refused to award damages of $22,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Rittoff, who had filed a cross complaint. The jury's decision indicated the belief that drivers of both cars involved in the crash were responsible for the accident.

Tackling Problem No. 1

UNHAPPY spectacle of hundreds of jobless men daily tramping the streets of Santa Ana and other American cities warns that—although this is an election year—America's No. 1 problem is still unemployment.

Significant in this connection is the awakening of industrial engineers to the fact that unemployment must be greatly reduced in order to save our social system from permanent harm.

A scientific approach to the problem of supplying jobs for the 10,000,000 men out of work and for those who may be displaced in future years by new machinery and processes is now being made by Professor William Henry Timbie of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In two talks before the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the educator said:

"In neglecting the economic and social consequences of new processes and machinery, unemployment too often occurs, which is dangerous to the social system. Engineers should be trained to consider such problems. If present practices continue, labor problems will never be settled. These engineers must plan for the future and not leave the results of new methods to the brutal forces of nature. The need is great for this type of man, and no perfect order can be attained without him."

Professor Timbie penetrates to the core of a matter which too many economists have passed by with the airy generality that "labor-saving machinery does not reduce the number of jobs, it increases them."

This view is sound over long periods of time. Machinery has greatly increased employment and has made possible a higher standard of living through efficient production and distribution of goods and services. Between 1870 and 1930 the population increased 218 per cent while the gainfully employed increased 291 per cent. Remove machinery and replace it by hand methods and we all would be starving in a month.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that new processes and machinery often do throw thousands of men out of employment temporarily. And that these jobless fellow citizens and their hungry families, out of work through no fault of their own, create a perplexing social and economic wound which might prove fatal some day to industrial civilization.

Unemployment adds immeasurably to the unhappiness, ill health, hunger, medical neglect, and lack of proper clothing and shelter of millions of American men, women, and children. It is perhaps the greatest source of human misery.

Science has discovered the secrets of electricity, medicine, steam power, printing and other modern blessings. More power to Professor Timbie and other scientists in their efforts to find a way to keep all workers gainfully employed.

Playing With Fire

MORE so-called experts lash the neutrality bill as a menace, instead of a safeguard, to United States peace. One of them, Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., New York, says—

England, France and Italy are on the verge of war, not about Ethiopia, but over control of the Mediterranean, with which the American people have nothing to do. If European and imperialist nations want to arm to the teeth and go to war, it is their war, not ours.

We seem to recall hearing something like that just before the United States got into the World war. But a lot of good it did with J. P. Morgan's money and a bunch of torpedoed Americans on the other side of the scale.

As General Smedley D. Butler, the old war horse, points out—

We must not permit ourselves to become more than passively interested and must not take sides in any war outside the limits of the United States. If we do so we shall become involved.

We must remain strictly neutral in thought, sympathy and in fact. If necessary, in order to make certain that we stay out of this conflict, we must even close our doors to all foreign trade until the storm blows over. Don't lend money or give any credits. We must treat all nations at war as if they had some dread contagious disease, which, in fact, they do have, and treat all other nations with suspicion, regarding them as possible intermediaries or contacts.

In addition to this, congress should prescribe that not one American soldier be sent outside the limits of the United States and its possessions to fight for anybody or anything and that our navy shall be entirely restricted in its activities to the defense of our coastline.

The best way to prevent little children from getting burned is to keep them away from fire.

And the best way to prevent self-seeking citizens from entangling this nation in a foreign war is to keep them and their money at home while hostilities are on.

That's what the neutrality bill, imperfect as it is, proposes to do.

Hail to the WORP!

THE WORP—a new alphabet project—may be in the offing for Santa Ana. The initials WORP, incidentally, stand for Work On Rock Pile.

Police Chief Floyd Howard is sponsor of the project, which, he believes, will be helpful in curbing reckless, drunk, and speeding drivers.

The chief points out: "We've got to do something to curb traffic accidents. Drastic measures are absolutely necessary. Heavy fines and light sentences in the county jail seem ineffective."

Tragic emphasis is added to his remarks by the accident Monday night in which a newsboy was run down and maimed by an assertedly drunk driver. And by the ghastly score of nine deaths chalked up so far this year in Orange county against automobiles.

Neither jail terms, fines, warnings, or prayers seem able to bring wild drivers to their senses.

Perhaps a taste of hard labor on the WORP would help do the trick.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

The cheating at poker that recently rocked the so-called millionaires' club, the Metropolitan, again reveals how easily confidence men with yard-long records may scale the barriers and mingle with the elect. This $7000 flim-flam happened to balloon into headlines.

But rarely does such trickery reach newspapers. Victims prefer to pocket their losses rather than be dubbed easy marks. Since the card shark's most fertile field, the ocean liner, has been closed to him by strict surveillance and publicity he has turned to the tony clubs.

His problem is to be sponsored so he can sit in one of those friendly but high play games usually in progress at every established social organization. Although primed always to win, he lazes along, winning a little, losing a little to get the lay of the land. And win confidence.

Eventually, he jockeys the game into table stakes, makes his clean-up and is seen no more. His is safe skulluggery. He has been accepted as a gentleman by gentlemen and by the time his rascality is realized he has made his killing and bow. And has little fear of a squawk.

The literary agent George Bye acted as escort for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt when she attended the weekly luncheon of the Dutch Throat club recently. They decided to walk from a mid-town office building to the lunch. And since then over the same route Bye is saluted by every cop. They think he's a secret service man.

It strikes me the most disheartening of the ballyhoo jobs is that of trying to fill a sight-seeing bus—especially during an evening of nasty weather. From a protesting doorway in the 40s, I watched a leather-jungled barker set his net for the catch. His old lady shills had taken their seats and were knitting. "Fast car going right out—Chinatown, the Bowery and the lower East Side," he intoned, pacing to and fro in clever caroling, watching the throngs hawk-like for any hint of indecision. Swarms passed. Only one—a wanderer with a pipe—halted. Like a flash the barker was at his side. But he was wanting a match. I watched 10 minutes and not a customer. An hour later I repassed. The bus was fulling. The shills gone.

Horrible thought: In another month if things keep up the Lindbergh case is likely to become a Dreyfus affair.

I saw a tall, regal, Ika Chase looking girl behind the Book Information Desk of a 34th street department store this afternoon wearing a monocle. So far as I know the only monocled working lady in the town. Her agent was pleasantly Southern and manner gracious. I wanted to ask her about a swiftly moving mystery story but a glance at the monocle and I switched to a query about a work of Santayana.

And in another department store—no reason for not saying Gimbel's—is about the prettiest eyeful hereabouts, running an elevator. She was operating the last one on the night of the rear of the store, if a movie scout hasn't already caught her.

The Riddlers, after 40 years, have preserved their enthusiasm for puzzles. They meet monthly in a midtown hotel—old men and young, young girls and elderly, school teachers, business men, etc. They sit around a green baize table working over letter divisions, anagrams, king's moves, cryptograms, etc. Most of them are known by "noms." "How d'ye do, Archimedes?" and "Hello Twisto?" Their interest is somehow touching and there's a splendidly intimate fraternal feeling without undue familiarity, a serenity and gentleness. How the rocking world needs these steady qualities!

The private night watch in our neighborhood, a ringer for Balfour's larrapin "Old Bill," has the friendly garrulity of the lonely. Last night I mentioned one of the current murder horrors. "I notice," he said, "that the papers are all inked up about it." It beats Woolcott's "ink-stained wretches."

And there's my gay seamstress friend, the sew and sew, who writes me so chattily now and then from Richmond, Va. She was retiring with her hemstitching to work herself to sleep. And observed: "I might reverse Sam Pepys with: 'And bed to sew.'"

Remarkable Remarks

The only way to remain out of Europe is to remain out of Europe.—Senator Borah.

Next time I marry, it will be with an angel after I die.—George H. Crawford, 84, Coca-Cola, Idaho, farmer, seeking a divorce.

EVERYDAY MOVIES

"After my little Goldie died I said I'd never get another one."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—William Edgar Borah has one of the toughest jobs, politically, in the senate. But it was a basketful of cabbages hurled in his direction which finally goaded him into entering the Ohio primary.

A few weeks ago Borah passed out the word that he would stay out of Ohio. To enter meant a categorical announcement that his hat was in the ring. For Ohio is the only state in the union where a candidate must sign his own filing papers.

Borah's negative decision brought forth considerable kidding. The senator from Idaho was accused of "being too old," of "having cold feet," of "not being a serious contender," of "never going through with what he starts."

This is old stuff to Borah. But this time it got under his usually indifferent skin. He sent word to Ohio backers that he had changed his mind.

Later, Borah encountered a newspaperman who remarked: "Well, senator, I see you have finally decided to become a candidate."

"What do you mean, 'finally decided to become a candidate'?" shot back Borah. "I've been a candidate all along. I guess I'll have to wear a sign on my back saying 'I Am a Candidate!'"

PHONY BONDS

The securities and exchange commission is secretly preparing to crack jail sentences on the heads of promoters attempting to register deceptive statements in selling securities.

The law provides a jail sentence up to five years. Hitherto the SEC has been lenient, has been content to send misleading financial statements back to promoters, giving them a chance for corrections.

But now when flagrant attempts to deceive the public are submitted, E. B. Bane, forthright chief of the registration division, proposes to move for criminal prosecution immediately.

JOHN ROOSEVELT

Here is one told by members of the Roosevelt family on their father.

Young John Roosevelt was home from Cambridge on a brief vacation. Arrived in a necktie which outdid the crimson of Harvard and with socks to match, he went in to see his father.

"Good heavens!" wailed the President. "Where did you get that terrible color combination? Take them back to Moscow!"

A few minutes later Mrs. Roosevelt came in, eyed her youngest-born, and perhaps remembering the debonair Harvard days of his father when she first fell in love with him, she remarked:

"Well, John, you're getting more like your father every day."

INFLATION WORRIES

If you are worried about currency inflation during this session of congress, here are two fairly positive trends to keep in mind.

1. Some kind of greenback bill is almost sure to pass the house and probably will get by the senate.

2. Almost any kind of an inflationary measure will be vetoed by the President. His veto will be sustained.

Therefore, since one from one still leaves zero—even in these topsy-turvy days of the New Deal—there will be no inflation. This does not mean, however, that it will not be debated back and forth

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Roosevelt plied her knitting needles throughout a recent press conference with newspaper women. She was making a sand colored skirt for daughter Anna.

After Henry Wallace sounded out a re-shuffle in territories before peace can be assured, as Britain's spokesman at Versailles, 1919, he was the biggest robber of all in stripping Germany of colonies. That unholy agreement has plagued the world from that day to this. And it will continue its festering fever until concord be substituted for discord, justice in place of force, and until in international councils there comes the conviction that "in the gain or loss of one race all the rest have equal claim."

Colonial possessions are not important in a nation's industrial economy. They may be, and often are, more of burden than benefit. America's experience with the Philippines has not been altogether happy, and we look forward to that happy day when we shall cut loose from them completely and forever. It is not a matter of freeing the islands. It is more to the point that we get free from them. Dewey's dubious victory at Manila, 1898, was dead loss in every respect.

The Scandinavian countries have no colonies, never had any since Sweden's futile attempts to

We all wish to be let alone when we are well and prosperous. But how few of us wish to be left alone when we are in distress!—Donald A. Richberg, former NRA administrator.

If girls are going to be sufficiently insane to starve themselves, they are simply breaking the biological law, exactly as a criminal breaks the criminal law.—Prof. D. F. Fraser-Harris, British health authority.

What Other Editors Say

AND WE MARVEL AT THE IGNORANCE OF THE TURKS

(From San Bernardino Sun)

From Istanbul it is reported that "many ignorant and superstitious Turks fired thousands of shots during a total eclipse of the moon. In accordance with Oriental legend, they believed Satan, in the shape of a dragon, was devouring the moon and they wished to frighten or kill him."

Such superstition is beyond understanding in this country, of course. In remote areas, horses, chestnuts may still be carried as preventives of rheumatism, and some were said to have grown quite low in their minds when Halley's comet came back two and a half decades ago to lash the sky. But to eclipses of the moon we show the faint difference of those who can take a thing or leave it. None of us would think of taking guns and trying to rescue Luna from the demon.

Of course, there are eclipses and eclipses. Not always is it the heavenly moon that gets eclipsed. Sometimes it is the economy of the nation that is hidden from the sun of prosperity. And what do we do then? Do we remain a superior people, free from the superstition that's born of that so prolific mother, Ignorance? Or do we gather up our guns and straightaway start shooting panacea at the demon who has invaded our heaven?

AGAIN, THE DRUG

(San Diego Sun)

Once more the lure of inflation is being promulgated in Congress. Seductive arguments are heard for paying the easy way. Just print the money!

The temptation is a powerful one. More powerful even than last summer. It is stronger in ratio to the more that gets of the debt.

The bonus is an actuality now. And then a few hundred millions are being added for agriculture. Vast additional sums for relief will soon be asked. And this is a campaign year, with Congress in deep fear of tax legislation at such a time. Knowing that political tradition says that its dynamite. Many look longingly for some shot in the arm to carry the country past November next, when the voters will have their say. If it's then the deluge—anyway—they'll be in the ark.

So, sentiment is being formed. And it should be remembered that last summer only by the narrowest of margins—by eight votes in the Senate—in a session when the pressure of politics was much less than now. Today therefore we are seeing what, if inflationary sentiment continues to grow, will be the most important issue since the crisis of March, 1933.

Do we yield to the lure? Do we take the course from exhilaration to collapse which every nation that ever tried it has done?

It's time again to dust off the history books and read once more of the assigns and the continental, the kronen and the mark; of the money that became no good; and of the barber shops that were papered with dollars.

Make no mistake about it, if inflation once gets under way, what follows will make the depression seem like good times by comparison; and those who will suffer most will be the poor, the ones with moderate income, the "great rank and file." If ever there was a time when we should benefit from the mistakes that history reveals, this is it.

And with particular reference to the veterans, one of whose leaders, James Van Zandt, now talks about making them the "goats" by paying the hard way of taxation, we desire in all kindness to point out that the amount received in bonus will buy little if anything if this resistance to inflation breaks. No better method can be found to make the ex-soldier the goat than by the price rise the printing press would bring.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

TRADE FLOWS RICHER WITHOUT THE SWORD

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE demands that European nations get together for a new deal in colonial affairs. He says there must be a re-shuffle in territories before peace can be assured. As Britain's spokesman at Versailles, 1919, he was the biggest robber of all in stripping Germany of colonies. That unholy agreement has plagued the world from that day to this. And it will continue its festering fever until concord be substituted for discord, justice in place of force, and until in international councils there comes the conviction that "in the gain or loss of one race all the rest have equal claim."

Colonial possessions are not important in a nation's industrial economy. They may be, and often are, more of burden than benefit. America's experience with the Philippines has not been altogether happy, and we look forward to that happy day when we shall cut loose from them completely and forever. It is not a matter of freeing the islands. It is more to the point that we get free from them. Dewey's dubious victory at Manila, 1898, was dead loss in every respect.

The Scandinavian countries have no colonies, never had any since Sweden's futile attempts to

But sentiment is stronger than argument, and Germany wants her colonies back. She intends to have them. Nothing would tie her hands so completely as for England and France to agree to her demands at once. It would be a great gain for all, except for Germany. But it would be a grand flourish for neighborly good-will.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

With C. F. SKRIBVIN

The Old Philosopher came in today to talk to me about Abe Lincoln. He said he never saw him, but he knew him right well—knew him for his humility, for his faith, for his devotion to a cause which finally reunited a nation torn by internal strife, and which, through his great love and patience he may now see over the ramparts of eternity a contented unity—of the people, for the people, by the people.

Almost four score years have again passed since that civil conflict merged into a pledge of national reconstruction and fellowship. Over that long period of years there has been developed under the flag of liberty and the common faith of a common people, a nation indissoluble in its humane purpose, and impregnable in its national honor.

But, said the Old Philosopher, we should never lose sight of the fact that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. There is now filtering into our national and political arteries the insidious propaganda of a foreign foe intended to discredit this peace-loving country. It threatens to tear from the anchors of national safety that self-same government of the people, by the people, for the people.

Seems to me, said the O. P., that Lincoln was divinely led. With a firm purpose to do the right he saw the right, he pressed forward to an objective with a heart full of compassion toward those he opposed. He visualized the safety which came to a nation solidified, and its danger from division. Time has proved the value of his wisdom. It is the solemn obligation of those who became the beneficiaries of his judgment to unflinchingly protect those virtues of our national existence, not to the prejudicial standpoint of any political affiliation, but to safeguard our national patriotism. It seems to me, said the O. P., that Lincoln viewed every question far beyond the preference of the partisan horizon.

Lincoln crowded the mortal limitations into unknown expanse. From the humble log-cabin near Hodgenville, Ky., to the exaltation of presidency of the United States, which honor he bore with a meekness unusual in its administration, he revealed to his fellow men that an obscure birth is no bar to a man's progress. The Old Philosopher thought that in our own environment our contribution to the happiness and security of the nation was relatively important.

When a man can emerge from an avalanche of opposition to the pinnacle of public esteem, the depth of his humanity, the breadth of his vision, and the unerring accuracy of his judgment aroused not only the amazement of the people of his day, but has continued during the years, and time has only added to the national gratitude of this great character.

The simplicity of his life is best told in his common attributes. Lincoln's most expensive suit cost $7. Now we get a lot of fellows wearing $7 shirts who put in most of their time complaining about the government, instead of doing something for it. But, said the Old Philosopher, I haven't found any monuments erected in their memory, or any other evidence of a contribution to the common weal. I think this epoch should go down in history as representing the period of national abdominal agitation, with the minimum of substantial assistance.

My appreciation of Lincoln was accentuated after listening to an address by Cloyd Hartnaff of Anaheim delivered yesterday before a local service club. Cloyd lived in an environment following the martyrdom of Lincoln's experiences. That is why he can talk about him with such feeling and appreciation. Hartnaff supplied for John Wesley Hill, chancellor of the Lincoln Memorial University, if you wish to get a patriotic impulse, list Hartnaff on your speaking program. You will come away with a better understanding of the days through which Lincoln passed, and how much he did for this generation.

Well, said the O. P., I've tried to read some during my life, made a few historical excursions into the realms of literature, compared the governments of despotism and those of democracy, analyzed to an extent the Icarian and the individual, and I'm satisfied with the freedom of the street, the security of the home, and the blessings of companionship as offered by the good old U. S. A., but I haven't the slightest objection to those who prefer some other kind, provided they go where the kind they prefer is available.

Lincoln's life led him to the Gethsemane of assassination. He delivered his own panegyric at Gettysburg.
